HAGAR THE HORRIBLE

By Dik Browne

THEY SAY WHEN A PERSON STARTS TO SIT ALONE AND DRINK, HE HAS A PROBLEM

Although I never thought I would feel this way, my greatest asset is my past. My family was a large New England lower middle class family. There was a lot of illness in our home. It was a disease of denial, so everyone ran around being okay on the outside and full of fear and inadequacy on a deeper level. It is only in retrospect that I am able to see this. I thought I was a normal teenager until I slowly sold out all of the things that I held dear. Until all of the people I had tried to love and invest in were gone. Seeing these truths, my truths, makes all of those days worth it.

I have always tried so desperately to be special. The image I had of myself was one of a kind, loving, wonderful, pretty, confident, unselfish young woman. Everything I did was to hurt myself or another person and slowly deplete my supply of self worth. Street people live on lies. They must.

One day in 1977 I was awakened by a huge swallow of self. The lies stopped working. I had to look at me! Somehow I was given the strength to walk through the truth one piece at a time. Today the most unique thing I have to offer is that I try on a daily basis to be one among many. Sometimes gracefully and sometimes kicking. I have a story to share with other people that may help them to keep on walking. I am learning of unconditional love and real self worth. The kind that is not chemically induced. I am learning what it is to be a friend, daughter and employee thru trial and error. I walk with hope, joy and a bit of excitement because I know that anything can happen. On the other hand, I have not surpassed being human, for I still get scared, angry and frustrated, but I can also share these things with people who walk next to me and if its okay for me, its okay for them.

Lindy D.

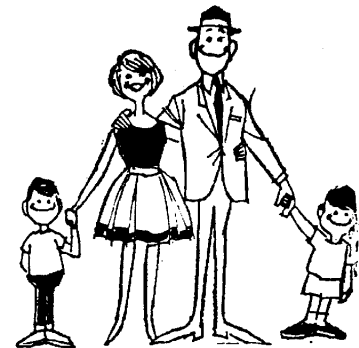

" PERHAPS AND IF ONLYS "

Tell him from one who knows:
A sputtering candlewick
Though burning dimly
Is brighter by far
Than cimmerian blackness.
For life
On whatever terms,
Outranks oblivion.

Yes!--the "If onlys" do persist forever
As hovering, wraithlike, used-up wishes,
Their afterburners spent;
"If only" this or that
On such and such a day
Had varied by an hour or an inch;
Or something neglected had been done
Or something done had been neglected!
Then "perhaps" the other might have been,
And other others.....to infinity.
For "perhaps" and "if only" are first cousins Addicted to survival in our minds.

Accept them.
And all else.

Arthur Hailey

For The NEWCOMER Reality

For those of us in A.A., reality is a difficult thing, without it there is nothing valid on which to base our lives. With it, there is a mountain of truth, honesty, and hope for all of us to climb, never ceasing and everlasting.

Reality, therefore must exist for us to remain a part of an ultimately real world.
Reality for me is facing the fact that I am a very sick person, emotionally, spiritually and mentally.
Taking a good, hard look at myself is never easy, but then little of life is easy.
More often than not, I tend to fantasize, always making myself much more kind, understanding and honest than I really am.

My first experience with reality hit me hard and put me to the floor on my face.
It wasn't until I had almost three months on the program that I came to grips with my illness.

I had suddenly forgotten all my factual reasons for being here and had started to play games with myself, my sponsor and my new found friends.
But the games I was playing were deadly to someone with my disease.

I began to think I really didn't have a problem, I told myself I stayed because of the other people, so I could help all those poor, sick alcoholics I had met, (Not remembering I was one.) I said I stayed because I did not want them to think I was a quitter (I just wasn't like them, but they wouldn't understand).

I stayed because I was desperately afraid of making a mistake -if I left where,
where would I go!
I played for awhile, daring my own insanity to take over and it did.

Slowly and subtly at first,
I didn't even see it until it was too late, not until I wanted a drink (or drugs) so bad that I made an attempt on my own life, (a feeble one because I knew deep down that I didn't want to die, I just needed an excuse to take that first drink or pill.)

I slipped, had a fleeting moment of sanity and called a fellow A.A.
Today I'm back, but with many new realizations:
1. I am a very sick alcoholic person.
2. If I want to stay sober then it has to be for me not for friends, family and not for all those other poor, sick alcoholics.
3. I know that Alcoholics Anonymous is where I belong, because there is nowhere else for me to go. (Except to die.) 4. I make no mistakes about the power alcohol has over my life, and I know without the shadow of a doubt that A.A. and my Higher Power can help me overcome my disease.
That is my reality today.
My sponsor tells me that experience is mine to keep,
and I hope I never forget my experience with alcoholic insanity as a sober member of A.A.

Cindy S.

The only requirement for A.A. membership is a desire to stop drinking. (Tradition #3)

How grateful I am there were no other requirements, had there been I would not have been able to stay, for when I arrived at the doors of Alcoholics Anonymous that's all I had left.

Everything else had been removed. I had managed my life right into the gates of insanity and death.. Physical and mental destitution were all I knew.

I felt the end was near.

Today I have begun a new life, yes today I know indeed.
My life as I knew it was over.
Little did I know I was to be rocketed into a new dimension of living, a life where dreams are fulfilled, where the limits of growth are only the ones we place upon ourselves.

Yes, today life is truly happy, joyous and free. Now I would be a fool to say this life is an easy one, daily I must (yes I said must) do things I don't want to do but the rewards are beyond all reasonable comprehension.

The entry requirement to this life of freedom, growth and happiness is simply a desire to stop drinking.

May God bless you and keep you always!

DELEGATE'S REPORT

G
O

YOUR DELEGATE has spent this summer traveling over a great deal of the Mid-Southern California Area, attending meetings, committee meetings, district meetings and H&I gatherings. I have been called on to share pertaining to the program, its traditions, policies and practices under any and all challenges. And there are many.

Most of our "situations," which we sometimes think are grave challenges, usually require only a calm appraisal based on good judgement, a liberal attitude and the ability to control our emotions, particularly where it involves tolerance.

In most cases that arise leading to confrontations about the interpretation of the Big Book, traditions, concepts and guide lines, our sober leaders can handle these situations. We are challenged by newcomers who come to us through different avenues leading ultimately to sobriety. The dually addicted who come to us admitting to our disease we should, and in most cases do, receive with a warm welcome and make an effort to fully share our A.A. program. When anyone talks in meetings extensively about problems other than alcohol it becomes the chairman or secretary of the meetings duty to ask the speaker to talk about our mutual problem as it affects his or her life or refrain from speaking. Many times it becomes the responsibility of a sober attendant at the meeting to speak up and point out that our primary purpose, individually and as a group, is to help suffering alcoholics recover from our disease. Tact, common sense and an attitude of calm humility will often turn a possible uncomfortable situation into one of sharing in understanding.

We have heard of people with problems "other than alcohol" infiltrating and taking over whole groups. We have not personally seen this. If and when this occurs, we feel that it is the fault of the group itself for not making the group conscience a vital part of the fellowship but letting it lie dormant. The ultimate authority in service of any kind in A.A. is the voice of the group conscience acting in the light of the primary purpose as stated above..

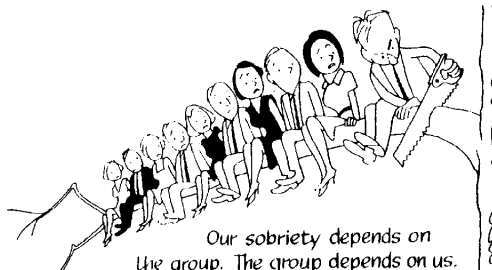

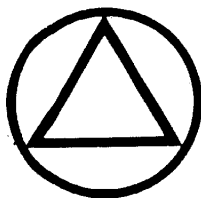

BY THE TIME THIS REACHES you the Assembly will have chosen new leaders for general service in the area. A new delegate-elect will begin one of the greatest experiences and privileges which a recovering alcoholic can have. A chance to serve the fellowship. Let this be my personal congratulations and best wishes to the entire new slate of officers. May you have as much joy (and growth) as I have been accorded.

I know that the Mid-Southern California Area Assembly will go on during the ensuing two years with greater service both to the group and to A.A. as a whole through the New York World Service of A.A. than it has ever had. New challenges, new solutions; new situations requiring new approaches all under the Twelve Traditions which have served us so well through the years.

Come to the January Assembly and join in the installation of your trusted servants. See you all then.

A.A.
HERITAGE
