EARLY MORNING MEETINGS

AN ORANGE COUNTY PHENOMENON?

by Jack C., Santa Ana

The daily early morning meeting may not have been invented in Orange County, but they thrive here today.

Everyone seems to have had an event, a meeting, or a person that was there when they needed

The daily early meeting for me, is synonymous with getting sober.

We know that no meeting, no person, no pill, no lightning bolt, gets a person sober. But we all do seem to equate events with that last drink or drunk. A meeting at 7 A.M. every morning of the week marked my first days, weeks and months of sobriety.

Needed for me were lots of identification opportunities (helps solve denial), lots of discipline (helps change old ways) and lots of giving and effort (helps a hopeless egoist get out of himself). The daily early morning meeting gave me these tools for sobriety.

Curiously the daily early morning meeting for me did not become a substitute for all other meetings or A.A. involvement. Rather, it became for me the foundation of a program and a fountainhead of A.A. contacts and friends.

Friends disappeared from my life while drinking, and the daily morning meeting helped remove this obstacle to sobriety.

A.A., involvement came as a natural result of lots of exposure at daily early morning meetings. At the meetings there seemed to be plenty of involved people.

That is not to say that the early morning meetings were attended solely by A.A. activists, circuit speakers, gurus, jail visitors and coffee cup washers. There were plenty of newcomers, court card carriers, anonymous observers and yesterdays drinkers to permit the group to carry out its primary purpose - to

I Was A Drinking Motorist

by Joanne A.

Re-printed from the Register, under the pseudonym of "Anne Page", in keeping with the policies of Alcoholics Anonymous

I have been reading the letters regarding police harassment of drinking drivers. I am a recovered alcoholic with over nine years of continuous sobriety, without any mind-altering chemicals or alcohol.

I have never had a 502 or been cited for driving under the influence of alcohol.

I drove for many years under the influence of alcohol--most of the time in alcoholic blackouts.

I drove over the surface carry its message to the alcoholic who still suffers.

If the daily early morning meeting is for you or if it may be a tool for someone else, consider this partial list of meetings I have found some in the directory, some not. No doubt there are others I missed.

streets and freeways of Orange County and all across the United States, and usually at a high rate of speed.

I would wake up in the mornings with no recollection of where I'd been or how I got home and would struggle out to see if my lovely white Cadillac was O.K.

If I found a fender missing or the front end damaged, I would hurry to my friendly automotive body shop to have the damage repaired.

I'd live in fear that I had hit someone or that the police might be looking for a damaged automobile.

On the few rare occasions I was stopped by a police officer, perhaps because of a defective light or for exceeding the speed limit, I would hurriedly spray the interior of the car and suck on breath mints and be able to convince

The Orange County A.A. meeting directory shows additional single early morning meetings, mid-morning meetings, Sunday morning meetings, and breakfast meetings, both weekly and monthly.

There's even an earliest morning meeting at 12:30 a.m. Thursday (Wednesday after midnight) in Costa Mesa.

A search of the Los Angeles Area meeting directory revealed only two daily early morning meetings. Recent attempts to find the equivalent in the San Francisco Bay Area failed, as did the San Diego and San Diego North Areas. (I could not find daily early morning meetings in Australia either!)

I was privileged to attend the first of one of these meetings and will certainly consider helping start another if given the opportunity.

God bless the daily early morning meeting. Maybe it's saving someone else's life too

Drinking Motorist

the officer that I was not ebriated and therefore got away with a warning.

On one occasion I had been drinking heavily for hours and left my home in anger and was stopped less than 500 yards away for having only one headlight.

I knew I was drunk so rather than get a 502 I pretended to be insane and was taken to a hospital for observation.

My urinalysis and blood test were not taken until the following morning and I had been allowed to drink all the water I wanted from 9 p.m. the previous evening, so I had eliminated most of the alcohol.

I convinced the psychiatrist that I had only had two drinks on top of prescribed Valium.

I was released by 1 p.m. the same day -- and drinking and driving again the same night.

I suggest that those who think the police are wrong to stop suspected drunken drivers should attend a few meetings of Alcoholics Anonymous and listen to the people who thank God for the arresting officer and for the hard-nosed judge.

Some were given the choice of attending A.A. meetings and found out they had the disease of alcoholism - and an opportunity to do something about a terminal sickness.

If more officers stopped the people they suspect to be driving under the influence, a lot more lives could be saved.

If more judges stopped being lenient, a lot of drinking drivers would be taken off the highways and a good percentage returned to society as sober members of the community.

I would solemnly suggest that those persons who are so vocal against the laws concerning drinking drivers (and who are angry when a police officer is just doing his job) take a good, honest look at their own drinking and driving habits.

I am willing to guarantee that the large majority have problems with alcohol but are unwilling to admit the fact and try to protect what they believe is their right to drink and drive.

They forget that the non-drinking driver and the sober pedestrian have the right to life.

God Lives In My Teddy Bear !

By Laura J. E.

God lives in my teddy bear.
He has little button eyes. And whiskers....and a crocheted smile. He's soft; He's cuddly, and He is ever faithful. He listens to me. Patiently and kindly He is always there. He loves me.

My Higher Power is most miraculous! It doesn't even surprise me any more when I find Him in my teddy bear! See, He knows me far better than I do. He knows my fear of Him; and my need for touchable reassurance.

When this frightened, belligerent little girl in womans body was put on the pathway to sobriety she had no personal Higher Power. The hate and fear that ruled me would not allow me to find one. On the one hand I refused to bow before anyone or anything. "I am ME!" And on the other hand, the fear of being rejected by the "real God"--the one that everyone else had found---was so powerful it shook every fiber of my being.

All powerful? I could buy that. All knowing? Okay, that sounded right. All forgiving?
No--that just might be wrong and I was afraid to find out.

Once in a while I'd catch a glimpse of "their" God. But then I'd lose Him again...was it all a dream? I couldn't get a grip on an image or a concept--and, oh how I wanted to! Something inside kept me searching and running and hiding and questioning....and trying.

One night after I had gone through the routine of kneeling and trying to pray (I had felt it work once, so I had continued the practice)
I was talking to my teddybear as I've done since childhood and all of a sudden the realization that God lived inside him right then was in front of me! God had put Himself into a place where I could be comfortable and trusting talking to and sharing with Him!
He talks to me by being in other A.A. members..and sometimes I can feel Him in me too! There's nothing He can't do! There is no face too strange or too difficult for Him to wear.

I pray you allow him to love you and to be with you as much as He wants to be! His patience is unbelievable: His love and understanding are infinite. I believe that you too can touch Him if you need to: Look for Him everywhere-- even in your teddy bear.....
Honest!.....

KEEP IT SIMPLE . . . By Sheila C.

A.A.--that is, my A.A.--is not a religion. If it were,
I would not be a sober alcoholic.

The new member, such as I was once, comes into A.A. fearful, shaky and terribly suspicious and finds a simple, straight-forward example of sobriety through sharing the experiences of other members.

It is true that after a while I came to believe in a Greater Power that could restore me to sanity. My awakening has been slow, but sure, but it is not a religious awakening. A spiritual one, yes. I doubt if I would be sober without it.

The twelve suggested Steps of our Program are simple, true and absolutely pure. I dare not complicate them. I accept them as a way of life that suits me and enables me to live as a normal human being--one that has trod the other path of drunkenness, loss of self-respect and utter degradation

What more can I ask for?
As dear Dr. Bob said:

Group Outlook

Group Inventories Can Be Adventures

A friend of ours recently found himself caught up in the inventory section of the pamphlet "The A.A. Group" (pages 37-38) and experienced a dismaying shock of recognition—he found himself answering "no" to several of the questions. Clearly, he felt, he and his home group were not reaching a good cross section of the community, had done little to bring the A.A. message to professionals who might guide active alcoholics to A.A., and had a high membership turnover for no obvious reason. He proposes that the group have an inventory meeting—soon.

Bill M., G.S.R. from Fredericton, N.B., reported on one such inventory. Bill wrote that 11 members of his roughly 20-member group read and answered each of the 13 questions in the pamphlet, and came up with three serious resolutions: "To invite our public information chairperson for District 5 to attend one of our meetings to develop ways our group can help his committee; to make our own experiences known to the district assembly and G.S.O.; and to follow up on all suggestions (which were many) at our next meeting." He described the group experience as "bitter-sweet: We were dismayed and delighted, saddened yet encouraged."

Delighted and encouraged are good words for it, since frequently, just the act of participation in an inventory meeting can breathe new spirit and dedication into a group.

A question central to every group inventory is: Are we welcoming newcomers? Not every newcomer has the good fortune to get to a beginners meeting. One Texas member, Allen M., wrote that his initial experience was filled with fear, loneliness, confusion, and anger because no one noticed or offered to help him at his first meeting, even after he mustered up the courage to identify himself as a newcomer. He heard a lot, he said, about "fellowship," and would have liked to see some of it. But he kept coming back and is there to bring up the question in his own inventory meetings today, reminding himself and his fellows that the "newcomer is the most important person in the room."

Bristol Fashion, an English newsletter, offered five answers to the question "How much do we owe our A.A. group?":

"We owe it our loyalty (carrying out the good work of our group as well as helping other groups); our presence (if everyone stayed at home, there'd be no meeting); our dependability (for success, it works two ways; we depend on it and it on us); financial support (both for the group and to spread the word—expenses go on whether or not we're present); and our influence of a godly life (the life we live helps make it either easier or more difficult for others to stay sober. We should live in such a way that our lives are a blessing to others in A.A.)."

Since how the group is functioning is the direct result of how its members are functioning in relation to it, such an approach could enhance the adventure of group inventory.

I AM RESPONSIBLE

When Anyone, Anywhere, Reaches Out For Help, I Want The Hand of A.A. Always to be There. And For That . . . I Am Responsible.

"ANSWER THE CALL"

The Seventh Tradition

Every A.A. group ought to be fully self-supporting, declining outside contributions.

"Passing the basket" at meetings is our way of meeting our responsibility for the work of A.A."

Where Does The Money Go ? . . .

A good way to avoid misunderstandings or difficulties is to ask the Treasurer to give monthly reports. They don't have to be elaborate. For example, "Last month we took in $ _____. We Paid _____ Rent, _____ Coffee and Supplies, _____ Literature, _____ Central Office, _____ G.S.O., _____ Area, and whatever else. Our beginning balance for this month was $ _____."

This not only helps to keep the record straight, it gives the members a better understanding of the self supporting concept. It can help dispel the notion that mentioning money is a no-no. It is one of those realities we are learning to face. It is not 'part of the miracle'. There is no government grant or other outside assistance.

Timely payment of bills and other disbursements helps us to keep the air clear too. I don't know about you but I feel that, if I contribute regularly to the ten or 12 meetings I go to each week, I have a right to know how the money is being spent.
