Like the 10th Step, the 11th Step is accompanied by very specific suggestions in the Big Book of Alcoholics Anonymous. It suggests ways to end our day, ways to start our day, questions to ask ourselves when reviewing our day, suggestions on facing problems during the day. It also offers some suggestions for prayer and meditation. So, with these very specific suggestions, why would I try to embellish them by writing an article on the 11th Step? Well, number one, I was asked to do it. And number two, given Bill W's citing of Henry Ford in Chapter 9, "Henry Ford once made a wise remark to the effect that experience is the thing of supreme value in life." So this is my experience with Step 11.

By the time I reached this step in the journey through the program outlined in the Big Book, I was very familiar with prayer. Thanks to the directions given for prayer in the preceding steps, I had become familiar with focused prayer. The prayers encountered so far in the work were astonishingly focused on the particular action required in the step being taken – though nothing man-made achieves perfection, the prayers had been perfect for what I was attempting to do. Now the book suggested a more personal kind of prayer. I was given huge latitude for the construction of personal prayers, always with the caveat that I pray "only for knowledge of His will for us and the power to carry that out." Being unfamiliar with God's will for me, the direction to pray for knowledge of this seemed perfectly logical. And the power to carry it out – again, perfectly logical. What was not intuitive initially, was the underlying principle at work – a direction away from self-centered and self-seeking prayer. The prayers I developed when first taking this step are pretty much the same prayers I use today. They have allowed me to focus on a newly-established relationship with a God of my understanding. No begging, no bargaining, no debating - simply seeking out what God would have me do.

Then the meditation part. Strangely enough, the meditation part was the easiest part for me. In the 1960's I was a member of the United States Marine Corps. When not drunk I was having a tough time sleeping. One of the senior non-commissioned officers suggested this simple trick: when lying in bed and finding myself unable to fall asleep, think of that most perfect moment of my life. Concentrate on it and try to recall every specific – the sounds, the smells, the surroundings, the emotions. Try to transport myself to that specific time and place and stay there for as long as I could, (remember, this was the "60's). I used that little trick for years, never realizing that what I was doing was meditating. So with this "trick" and the direction to seek God's will for

The Eleventh Tradition

Tradition Eleven: Our public relations policy is based on attraction rather than promotion; we need always maintain personal anonymity at the level of press, radio, and films.

Self-Promotion, Not Attraction

On the last Thursday of each month, our Alcoholics Anonymous meeting covers one of the Traditions. Frequently, the Tradition Eleven meeting falls on Thanksgiving, and we conveniently change it into a gratitude meeting.

After all, how does the question of breaking one's anonymity in public affect most of us non-celebrities? That's the terrain of rock stars and golfers who blab in public about how they went to rehab, joined "the program," and are now sober. Then we read a news story about the car they drove into a telephone pole and their return to some exclusive recovery center in the Bahamas.

During my first failed tour of duty in AA in 1980, I learned just how easy it is for a regular civilian to break Tradition Eleven and do real damage to our treasured Fellowship. My lovely young wife had given up on me after a year of marriage. The husband-to-be she had met a year-and-a-half earlier didn't drink, although he smoked some dope. He certainly wasn't the reeling, retching, obnoxious animal she lived with now. "Either the booze goes, or I go," she said. It was a mandate; I decided to give AA a try.

After attending meetings for about a month, I had things pretty well figured out. I attended one meeting a week and showed up late. That way, I never had to say, "Hi, I'm Michael and I'm an alcoholic." I never shared and left early to avoid any chitchat with the riffraff who frequented the meetings.

However, I decided I would read the literature, study real hard, and learn how not to drink. If I did my assignments, I would pass the course with flying colors.

Months passed and things got better. Married life improved and things at work took a decided upswing. When my coworkers asked what the change was due to, I said with pride that I was in AA. Spouting chapter and verse, I impressed my colleagues. I came to be known as Mr. AA and did a good job of lording my superior knowledge over the others. I told my former drinking buddies that they could probably use some of what I had. After all, look at how my life had turned around. A few of them seriously considered it.

But working the Steps, getting a sponsor, practicing real honesty, acceptance, and faith in a Higher Power just wasn't part of my program. I didn't need that stuff; I could do it my way. We all know what happened.

First, I convinced my wife that I could drink wine on the weekends. Because she came from a good alcoholic family, that made sense to her. When that didn't get too far out of control, we agreed I could drink a little wine during the week. Then, some hard stuff on the weekends and, within a few months, I was back to a quart of vodka a day.

My coworkers noticed. It wasn't just that I was drinking again. I showed up for work late, had the shakes, memory loss, and erratic mood swings, and was frequently ill.

I made a foolish spectacle of myself and they let me know it. "Well, Mr. AA, what happened to you?" they asked, "I thought you AAs weren't allowed to drink? I guess that AA program isn't so good after all."

That is how I broke Tradition Eleven. I misinformed many people about AA and how it really works. My poor performance may have provided a great excuse to any number of people who could have benefited from our program. Although I did a great disservice to the Fellowship, I learned my lesson.

In 1990, I crawled back into the rooms. I was in a lot more pain than I had been a decade earlier. This time around, I arrived on time, spoke up, got a sponsor, participated, and took suggestions. Today, I keep my mouth shut unless an opportunity to help another alcoholic presents itself. Because the program saved my life, I treasure all that it has to offer me.

I may not have the opportunity to speak to the multitudes about my participation in AA, but I can abuse Tradition Eleven just as surely as if I were front and center on the latest, hottest, television reality show.

me, this became a more focused effort – an effort that transcends its simple genesis as a way to fall asleep.

In one of the closing paragraphs of text outlining this step in the Big Book, Bill writes, "We alcoholics are undisciplined. So we let God discipline us in the simple way we have just outlined." As a person who had always chafed at discipline of any kind – this became a way of life.

Principles of Alcoholics Anonymous®

Patience Serves As an AA Attribute

The Lifeline continues its new feature -- the Principles of Alcoholics Anonymous -- with a look at Patience and what it means for we alcoholics. In the December issue we will examine Love and Charity.

-- Editor.

My dictionary tells me that the act of being patient is 1. Enduring pain or difficulty with calmness, 2. Tolerant; understanding, 3. Persevering; constant, 4. Capable of calmly awaiting an outcome; not hasty or impulsive.

They all seem to apply to our lives in Alcoholics Anonymous. And some seem to have been lifted directly from our Big Book.

Throughout the first 164 pages of our Big Book, there is an oft-repeated entreaty posed for family, friends and employers -- in fact, to all who come in contact with the newly-sober alcoholic. The plea is for patience in all of its many forms. Tolerance, love and understanding are but a few of the forms that patience can take.

In the chapter "To Wives," our spouses are told that they shouldn't expect too much from the newly-sober drinker.

"Patience, tolerance, understanding and love are the watchwords," says the line on Page 118.

That admonition almost directly reflects an earlier suggestion about the amends process in which the faults of others are summarily dismissed.

"We asked God to help us show them the same tolerance, pity and patience that we would cheerfully grant a sick friend." the book advises us on Page 67.

And our book offers unstinting praise for those certain, constant family members who refuse to give up on their alcoholic progeny or mates. On Page 82, this tribute occurs: "Passing all understanding is the patience mothers and wives have had with alcoholics."

In discussing Tradition Two, our guide in the Twelve Steps and Twelve Traditions defines the elder statesman as "one who sees the wisdom of the group's decision, who holds no resentment over his reduced status, whose judgment, fortified by considerable experience, is sound, and who is willing to sit quietly on the sidelines patiently awaiting developments."

Patience, then, is just one more AA attribute.

In Bad Taste...

Drunk Driver

A drunk is driving through the city and his car is weaving violently all over the road. A cop pulls him over and asks, "Where have you been?"

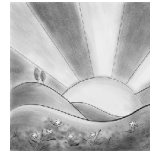

"I've been to the pub," slurs the drunk.

"Well," says the cop, "it looks like you've had quite a few."

"I did alright," the drunk says with a smile.

"Did you know," says the cop, standing straight and folding his arms, "that a few intersections back, your wife fell out of your car?"

"Oh, thank heavens," sighs the drunk. "For a minute there, I thought I'd gone deaf!"

Intergroup Service Board Elections

The annual Intergroup election of Service Board members will be held on Wednesday, November 14, 2007 at 7:00 p.m. at the Ayres Hotel & Suites, 325 Bristol St., Breton East & West Meeting Rooms, Costa Mesa, CA 92626. The election will be held before the regular business meeting. This arrangement will help to conduct both events in a more expeditious and time-efficient manner.

The Service Board will determine the number of positions vacated by members completing their two year terms. All new members are first elected to the Board. Then, in a unique but practical arrangement, the new Board will elect from their number, the four Intergroup officers to one-year terms: The Chair, Vice Chair, Secretary and Treasurer. The new Intergroup Chair then appoints-with Board approval-five Standing Committee Chairs to one-year terms: the Central Office Committee Chair, Group Relations Committee Chair, Lifeline Committee Chair, Public Information Committee Chair and Special Events Committee Chair. [The Intergroup H & I Committee Chair position is automatically filled by the Orange County H & I Committee Director.]

The Orange County Intergroup pamphlet ELECTION 2007 currently in distribution has a description of the election process and a summary of the duties of each Board Member. Copies are available at the Central Office. If you stand for election to one of these positions you will make a major contribution to the effectiveness of the Orange County Intergroup team which is dedicated to delivering the message to the alcoholic in need of sobriety. Your help is appreciated.

Concept 11

"The trustees should always have the best possible committees, corporate service directors, executives, staffs, and consultants. Composition, qualifications, induction procedures, and rights and duties will always be matters of serious concern." (Short Form)

This Concept describes, in great detail, the composition, functions and relationships of the General Service Board (Trustees) standing committees, the board's two operating corporations, the General Service Office management, and AA Grapevine staff. It was written in 1962, but most of it including the guiding principles still apply.

Although seven Trustees committees have been added to the five that existed at the time Bill W. wrote this Concept in 1962, much of his blueprint for the original committees still applies and the form has been carried over to the newer committees. The committees still consist of a combination of trustee and non-trustee members, with each committee member having full participating and voting responsibilities, however, the committees are always chaired by a trustee member.

Likewise each of the two operating corporations (A.A. World Services, and the A.A. Grapevine) has a combination of trustee and non-trustee directors, always using a trustee member as its chairperson. Included with the trustee and other non-trustee members the A.A. Grapevine Executive Editor is a member of the Grapevine board, and the General Service Office General Manager, and the GSO Staff Coordinator are members of the AAWS board. In seating board members with diverse backgrounds and talents these boards function at the highest non-partisan level.

One unique aspect of this Concept relates to the 11 alcoholic staff members employed at the General Service Office. Each of them is in charge of a "division" in which the focus of his or her work centers on different aspects of service. These divisions roughly relate to the Trustees committees, such as literature, public information, corrections, etc. The unique part is that every two years, each of the 11 alcoholic staff members rotates assignments. Not only do they rotate assignments, but they physically move into different offices with new assistants, phone numbers, and e-mail addresses. During their tenure of employment at GSO, most staff members rotate through most of the available positions, which gives them a working knowledge and appreciation of each job, and the loss of one or more member does not have a major impact on the effectiveness of the office as a whole.

One other section of this Concept states that each paid executive, staff member, or consultant should be paid in reasonable relation to the value of similar services or abilities in the commercial world. In other words our workers should not have to suffer monetarily because they work for A.A.

Although this Concept is long and detailed, it is worth reading and studying. It could provide a model of how to run a successful business or other type of organization.

NO COMPROMISE

A Southern Congressman received a letter from a constituent demanding to know: "How do you stand on whiskey?" The trouble was, of course, that the letter didn't say how the writer stood on whiskey, so the Congressman wrote back as follows: "I had not intended to discuss this controversial matter at this time. However, I have never shunned a controversy and I will take a stand on any issue at any time. You ask me how I stand on whiskey. Here is how I stand: if you mean, by whiskey, the Devil's brew, the poison scourge, the bloody monster that defiles innocence, dethrones reason, destroys the home, creates misery and poverty- yea Literally takes the bread from the mouths of little children—if you mean the evil drink that topples Christian man and woman from the pinnacles of righteous and gracious living into the bottomless pit of degradation, despair, shame, helplessness and hopelessness—then I am against it with all my power.

"But, if when you say whiskey you mean the oil of conversation, the philosophic wine, the elixir of life, the ale that is consumed when good fellows get together, that puts a song in their hearts and the warm glow of contentment in their eyes—if you mean Christmas cheer, the stimulating sip that puts a little spring info the step of an elderly gentleman on a frosty morning—if you mean the drink that enables man to magnify his joy and to forget life's great tragedies, and heart breaks and sorrows—if you mean that drink, the sale of which pours into our treasuries untold millions of dollars that provide tender care for our little crippled children, our blind, our deaf ,our dumb, our pitiful aged and infirm—to build highways and hospitals, and schools then I certainly am in favor of it. "This is my stand...and I will not compromise."

.....personal recovery depends upon A.A. unity.

I've been thinking about friends who, for whatever reasons, have either backed off or completely stopped attending AA meetings. I did this myself once and eventually got drunk. Even with having the great fortune of getting back to AA, I backed off again, and though by Grace I did not drink, I found it an effort to get back in the groove, but eventually did.

My Loving God brought to memory a story I had heard or read somewhere, perhaps in a meeting or the AA Grapevine. It went something like this:

A new man came to an AA meeting with a desire to stop drinking. The group welcomed him. He did not drink and began to meet the people in A.A. One member suggested that he ask the "old-timer" to sponsor him, which he did.

The old-timer was an active member of A.A. He had, by the grace of his Higher Power, stayed sober, had taken the steps, and was sharing what he had with others. The old-timer introduced the new man to many people who were practicing the AA principles and were active in the fellowship, sharing this all with others.

The old-timer shared his experience, strength and hope with the new man, and was there for him as he took the 12 steps. The new man's life changed and he was very grateful to his group, his friends in the fellowship, his new found relation with his Higher Power and his old-timer sponsor.

When the new man was sober a few years, a job opportunity took him and his family far away from his home group and sponsor. He established himself in AA in his new location and in time made new friends and began helping others.

After some time, a business trip took him back to the town of his AA beginnings. He looked forward to it. When he attended his former home group he noticed the old-timer was not there. He inquired and was told that the old-timer had stopped going to meetings.

This disturbed him, as the old-timer had shared with him how important it was that sober alcoholics "hang together, lest we die alone — that personal recovery depends upon AA unity."

He paid a visit to the old-timer at his home. The old-timer answered the door and invited the newcomer in. The newcomer noticed the sparkle had left the old-timer's eyes. They sat by the fireplace, talking quietly, but the conversation was, for the most part, superficial. The conversation trailed off as the fire burned down to glowing embers.

The newcomer, in the stillness of the room, picked up the tongs that rested near the fireplace. He dug into the embers and pulled out a hot, glowing piece of wood and set it on the hearth. The old-timer and the newcomer watched as the hot, glowing ember cooled and sputtered, lost its lively glow and died on the hearth. The newcomer then picked up the lifeless piece of wood with the tongs and worked it back into the middle of the glowing embers. It came back to life, ablaze again.

The old-timer was seen in a meeting the following day.

It's easy to let up on a spiritual program of action (including going to meetings) and rest on our laurels. A sponsor once shared with me that he felt the most important thing an AA member could do on a daily basis was to have conscious contact with another fellow AA. For myself, part of God's constant disclosure to me is through you at meetings. I like to listen to everyone, as you never know who is going to say what you may need to hear. I am grateful to currently be active in and a part of our graced fellowship.

Purpose: The Orange County Lifeline Committee is a committee of volunteer A.A. members, charged with the responsibility of producing and distributing the Orange County Lifeline, (a publication of the Orange County Intergroup Association). The Lifeline is published to meet the following needs of the Orange County A.A. membership: to inform the A.A. membership regarding A.A. service, A.A. events and A.A. announcements; also to share experience in recovery, unity and service; to keep the A.A. membership informed regarding the actions, finances and meetings of the Orange County Intergroup Association and other Central Office committees.

Lifeline Committee: We meet the 1st Thursday of each month at the Central Office. Join us @ 7PM.

CENTRAL OFFICE CALL FORWARDING SHIFTS

Call-forwarding is the program instituted by Orange County Central Office whereby, during hours when the Central Office is closed, calls to the Central Office are forwarded to your phone and you answer the calls, just as if you were sitting in the Central Office as a volunteer. This service allows the Central Office to realize a significant cost savings because we do not need to contract to a vendor to answer the phone and forward the call on to a central Office 12th Step volunteer. Even more vital, when a call is placed to Alcoholics Anonymous, the caller will be talking to an A.A. member not a paid private worker! Many of the shifts listed below are currently filled by A.A. members. If you see a shift that you would be able to take, please call the Central Office at (714) 556-4555 to determine if that shift is currently unfilled.

Sobriety Days Good and Great!

A newcomer with a few months sober was heard to say they only had two kinds of days: Good days and Great days: The newcomer explained: "A good day is when everything is going my way and I haven't had a drink. A great day is when nothing is going my way and I haven't had a drink."

"Now my brother John...He's a guy who really NEEDS AA"
